Interesting Mass Meeting.

One of the most interesting mass meetings held in this community in recent times took place last Sunday evening in the Hebrew Institute.

The occasion was the delivery of a report from the Jewish Congress recently held at Philadelphia by the delegate from Fort Worth, Mr. L. F. Shanblum. Mr. Shanblum on his return stopped off in Chicago and St. Louis. Hence the delay in the delivery of his report.

Though the proceedings of the Congress were made known at the time to those who read the daily reports in the press, yet many very interesting and important things were related by Mr. Shanblum that the press did not report, such as the struggles and clashes by the various groups and interests contending for their side of arguments. He told of all the different roles and positions taken by the various parties on important points dealt with at the Congress.

Fort Worth was signally honored by the placing of her delegate, Mr. Shanblum on a very important committee—that of resolutions.

The audience who listened to the report profited a great deal in that, that they were made acquainted with a good many incidents of the Congress of which they could not otherwise know.

Mr. Shanblum thanked the Fort Worth Community sincerely for the honor in electing him to the Congress and stated that he would always consider it one of the greatest honors conferred on him by the community.

Before adjournment, a standing vote of thanks was given Mr. Shanblum for the elegant report.
